"America has always shown exceptional attendance and punctuality. The minute America steps in her classroom, she looks forward to being engaged with her assignments. She checks her calendar activities and adheres to what needs to be done before the due dates. According to all her teachers, she's becoming the first student who completes her assigned assignments whether on paper or electronically. Her positive attitude makes her a unique leader in every subject classroom. She's a great observer and does what she's expected to do. When she is advised to make corrections on her work, she doesn't hesitate; she makes sure that those corrections are made with no problem and no questions asked. She is always striving for what is best for her education.

America has a great aspiration for attending a good college or university. She has mentioned that she would like to graduate with honors from High School. One of her dreams is to attend Arizona State University and pursue working toward a master's degree in the medical field. She sees herself being the best nurse or doctor in this state. She enjoys helping people and has compassion for others when they are seeking help."
